1. Preamble

UNSW has an ongoing commitment to foster a culture of learning informed by academic integrity. Plagiarism undermines academic integrity and is not tolerated at UNSW.

1.1 Purpose

This Policy Statement is to be used as the official source document for defining terms related to “plagiarism” by the UNSW Code of Conduct, the Student Code Policy, and the Research Code of Conduct and related procedures and guidelines. It is also to be used as the sole source of definitions for use in educational and training material for staff and students related to preventing or handling plagiarism.

2. Scope

This Policy Statement shows under which policies and procedures plagiarism is managed at UNSW for all staff, including contract staff, visiting staff and conjoint appointments; coursework students, and research students.

3. Definitions

3.1 Definition of Plagiarism

Plagiarism at UNSW is using the words or ideas of others and passing them off as your own. Below are examples of plagiarism including self-plagiarism.

Copying: Using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This includes copying materials, ideas or concepts from a book, article, report or other written document, presentation, composition, artwork, design, drawing, circuitry, computer program or software, website, internet, other electronic resource, or another person's assignment, without appropriate acknowledgement.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: Changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and/or progression of ideas of the original, and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another's ideas or words without credit and to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without appropriate referencing.

Collusion: Presenting work as independent work when it has been produced in whole or part in collusion with other people. Collusion includes students providing their work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task and passing it off as your own, stealing or acquiring another person's academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person's work or seeking payment for completing academic work. This should not be confused with academic collaboration.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the 'secondary' source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Self-plagiarism: 'Self-plagiarism' occurs where an author republishes their own previously written work and presents it as new findings without referencing the earlier work, either in its entirety or partially. Self-plagiarism is also referred to as 'recycling', 'duplication', or 'multiple submissions of research findings' without disclosure. In the student context, self-plagiarism includes re-using parts of, or all of, a body of work that has already been submitted for assessment without proper citation.

8. Acknowledgements

The definition of plagiarism at UNSW can be found on the Student Life and Learning and the A-Z Student Guide (myUNSW) web pages. It was first used by the UNSW Learning Centre, for the Guidelines on student plagiarism, hand book for students (2005). The definition was based on that proposed to the University of Newcastle by the St James Ethics Centre and is used with kind permission from the University of Newcastle. The examples were adapted with kind permission from the University of Melbourne.

The Office of Research Integrity paper by Dr Miguel Roig titled "Avoiding plagiarism, self-plagiarism, and other questionable writing practices: A guide to ethical writing", has been relied upon to develop the definition of Self-Plagiarism.
